J. E. Luesler was Shooting Victim

J. E. Luesler, of Medicine Hat, formerly a Lethbridge citizen, was instantly killed Friday afternoon at his farm some miles north of Medicine Hat, when a bullet from a rifle he was carrying passed through his shoulder in close proximity to the heart.

Details of the accident are not to hand, and it's impossible to tell how the fatality happened, though it is known to have been purely accidental. Mr. Luesler had gone out with his nephew on a shooting trip.

The late Mr. Luesler was well known here. For a number of years Lethbridge was his home, and he was head of the J. E. Luesler Construction Co. He removed to Medicine Hat in 1912, where he was actively engaged in construction during Medicine Hat's period of rapid growth.

He leaves to mourn his loss Mrs. Luesler and a family of three children.

The explanation as to how the fatality happened, which reached the city this afternoon, was that, in picking up the loaded gun, which was standing beside his car, it caught, the discharge entering the body under the arm.—Lethbridge Herald.

President Wilson Urges Prayers for Peace

Washington, Sept. 10.—President Wilson has set apart October 4 as a day, on which the people of the United States say to pray for the speedy ending of the great European war and the early restoration of peace.

The proclamation was as follows: "Whereas great nations of the world have taken up arms against one another, and a great scourge of bloodshed and suffering has been sent upon the human race, and whereas, in this, as in all things, it is our prime duty to seek common and sincere of Almighty God, imploring ourselves before Him, confessing our weakness and our lack of any wisdom equal to these things,

"And whereas, it is the especial wish and longing desire of people of the United States, in prayer and counsel and all friendliness to serve the cause of peace,

"Therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, have designated the fourth day of October for prayer, and request all God-fearing persons to register that day to that place of worship, and thereunto use their petitions to Almighty God, that overruling the counsel of men, setting aside the things they cannot see, and either, taking pity on the nations now in the throes of conflict, in His mercy and compassion showing a way where none can see none, He vouchsafe His blessing upon healing peace, again and restore once more that content among men and nations without which there can be neither happiness nor true friendship nor any wholesome fruit of toilers throughout the world; may also to this end, that He forgive our sins, our ignorance of His Holy Will, our selfishness and many errors, and lend us in the paths of obedience to His voice and His thoughts and counsel that purge and make wise."

At an hour, when he attempted to sign up on the north tank. Some thing went amiss with the steering gear, the racer turned two complete somersaults and Death riding the race with Dure-Devil Bennett, claimed his own.

J. Gaur, mechanic in the car with Bennett, was thrown clear on the first turn, and came out with a few bruises.

Very few in the crowd realized that the accident had been fatal. In fact, the races were proceeded with, and the death of Bennett was not known till his body returned down town.

The victim of the accident lived but a few minutes after the accident. His last words before expiring were, "Let me die."

Mrs. Bennett, a lady auto driver of repute, witnessed the fatality, and is so broken up today that she could give out nothing about her husband's history. His body was interred in the Macleod cemetery on Tuesday afternoon.

Dare-Devil Driver. Killed at Macleod

Macleod, Sept. 8.—The speed fiend claimed another victim here yesterday, when the late race driver, J. Gaur, was killed at Macleod. "Cap" Bennett, one of the best known drivers on the continent, was credited to death when his car whizzed in twirling a mile a minute clip, turned two complete somersaults. Bennett, who was the feature figure on the race track, was caught between the steering gear and the body of the crumpled car, his ribs were broken, piercing his lungs, and, though rushed to the Macleod General hospital, he expired inside half an hour.

The fatality occurred in the third heat of the holiday afternoon's auto racing program being staged by the Western Canada Racing Trust, a galaxy of spectators who have won glory south of the line.

Bennett was driving his car at 60 miles an hour, when he attempted to sign up on the north tank. Some thing went amiss with the steering gear, the racer turned two complete somersaults and Death riding the race with Dure-Devil Bennett, claimed his own.

J. Gaur, mechanic in the car with Bennett, was thrown clear on the first turn, and came out with a few bruises.

HANDLEY'S

"Atlantis" The management of the Blairmore opera house begs to announce the booking of "Atlantis," the stupendous and costly film adaptation of Herbert Thompson's world-famous novel in six powerful reels.

The name and fame of Gerhart Hauptmann are known the world over like to men of letters and lovers of the best in the field of literature.

The distinguished author is in the zenith of his literary power, and as the winner of the $400,000 Nobel prize in literature, holds an available position in the forefront of modern authors.

It was only after much persuasion that H. Hauptmann consented to have his story adapted for the film, and he has expressed gratification at the result.

The photo-drama follows closely the absorbing and thrilling novel that bears its name. The secret are unfolded in sequence according to the plans of the distinguished author and nothing has been overlooked in the matter of detail.

The beholder is carried in visions to many climes, and on his journey to America the leading character is a passenger on a liner that sinks in mid-ocean amid many exciting scenes of panic and heroic rescue.

The episode has been pronounced one of the most remarkable and realistic ever produced in films.

Boxing Bouts Were The Real Thing

The Lethbridge Herald has the following to say of Dan Dunlop, Blairmore's representative in the big boxing tournament:

WELLSBORO The second bout of the evening was a welterweight clash. These welterweights were the boys to fight and they displayed a knowledge and a style of boxing that was a treat.

Professionals have not shown anything better than these men at any time around here.

D. Dunlop, of Blairmore, one Jack Davis, of Collinville, were the first pair to meet. Right and left hand swung chain, upgrabs and splendid footwork were seen in their repertoire and they didn't waste time. Dunlop has a power fight, which did a lot of damage, and he gained a shade of two on his opponent and was awarded the fight.

Later on Dunlop gained the welterweight championship, by ending the contest over Ronnie McDonald, of Cassin, on a foul. It was the finest exhibition of the evening as far as it went. Both men were strong in their department of the game, and were willing to extend themselves to the limit of their powers.

They went for a little better than two rounds—extremely clever when they got mixed up in the ropes, from which position the referee was expecting them to get out. The referee, from which position the referee was expecting them to get out. The referee, from which position the referee was expecting them to get out.

The referee promptly stopped the proceedings and awarded the bout to Dunlop. McDonald was notified at the time and declined his laurels in full intent. The crowd sympathized with Dunlop, both fighters were admired for their skill. It was the certain ring of the evening.

H. Somerville lectured in the Opera House on Tuesday night on the subject of "Social Purity."

Miss Bradley, of the teaching staff, spent Sunday and Labor Day on the prairie.

Rev. F. T. Cook spent Labor Day in Macleod, attending the Methodist district meeting.

David Hall, of Burnis, has moved his family to one of Mrs. Rudd's houses at Maple Leaf.

The Weldon Brothers have built a small house at the Roseale dairy, and now occupy it.

Harry Campbell, who left a short time ago for the coast, has returned and informs us "there is nothing doing!"

Jack Barwick got slightly hurt this week while following his occupation as miner. He will soon be alright again.

Walter Miller and family left this week for their home in Yorkshire, England, where they intend staying for a few months.

Miss Mary Bosely left this week to spend the winter at the Lethbridge high school. She intends taking a course in stenography.

Mrs. Mary H. Sommerville lectured in the Lyric theatre on Monday night to a good house. Her lecture was illustrated by some lantern slides.

Thomas Kynastan and family, accompanied by W. Newton and wife, spent the week-end fishing at South Fork. "Tom" says they didn't bite good.

One of Frank Bosely's horses was injured so seriously by a running bull on Friday that the police had to shoot the horse. The animal was a valuable one.

G. W. Cousins met with a slight accident this week while breaking up a box. A piece of wood entered the eyelid just under the right. As a result he has since been off work.

The children of the Methodist Sunday school journeyed to Crows' Nest on Monday for their annual picnic. The day was a little cold, but they all report having had a good time.

AUCTION SALE—(George W. Porter, of Grassy Lake, will sell at public auction at Bellevue, on Tuesday, September 22nd, at 2 p. m., the following: 1 carload of First-Class Milch Cows, 300 Small Hogs, 300 Chickens.

The child of Mr. and Mrs. P. Ubertino had a narrow escape from death this week. In some unaccountable manner the little one came in contact with some lye and drank it. The mother arrived just in time to rescue the child.

We wonder how our two friends enjoyed their early morning constitutional. "Believe the Black" would fittingly describe our recent weather. We expect a snow storm daily.

"Bill" Calkwood was successful in passing for the B.N.W.M.P., and left for Regina on Tuesday.

Rudolf Menzel, of the Blairmore Liquor Store, spent Saturday in town arranging the transfer of the Southern hotel.

A considerable number of the boys spent Labor Day in Lethbridge and report a "glorious time." No doubt!

Great satisfaction is expressed by local Belgians at the decision of their government that they may volunteer for service in Canadian regiments.

"Dick" Menzell, who was operated on in the hospital recently, has been advised to return to England, and expects to leave within a week.

Labor Day passed very quietly here until the evening. Then the quiet was rather rudely shattered, and as a consequence several of our friends had to appear at the bar with the following morning. All got off with a fine.

An exceptionally large crowd enjoyed the Labor Day dance in the Union Hall. Numerous parties from Beaver Mine and Blairmore satiated over, and dancing was kept up until 5 a. m. Splendid music was furnished by the Bellevue and Beaver Mine orchestra and a supper by Jack Rudd.

Quite an amusing incident occurred in the police court recently. The charge having been made by the J.P. that the accused pleaded "not guilty." The evidence for the prosecution was taken, then the accused put on the stand and his evidence corroborated the evidence

Once again our old friend, Mrs. Rudd, has assumed control of the Southern hotel. It is her intention to have it thoroughly renovated throughout and already a large force is at work. Mrs. Rudd evidently intends to do things right. Bundles of carpets, new bedding, linoleum, etc., have been arriving almost daily, and the painters are busy freshening up. The kitchen will be in charge of Jack Rudd, his assistant chef at the Washington hotel at Seattle, who expects to have things in shape to serve meals next week. Until such time as a license can be secured the hotel will be operated as a boarding house.
